

Use of Additional Child Care Quality Resources

This measure, which is also incorporated in the Participant Characteristics tool, can be used to collect data about other kinds of child care resources participants in a specific initiative/program may be using or plan to use in the future.

This tool, which is adapted from the Smart Start evaluation, can be used to survey participants' interest in additional services. You can use the data in three different ways: to identify the kind of services you may want to add to the initiative; to modify the initiative to improve its alignment with participants' interests; or to evaluate their interest in other quality improvement initiatives. This instrument includes a list of quality improvement strategies so that participants' interest in a wide range of services can be evaluated. The list should be adapted to reflect the services offered in your state or locality.
